One Piece has been my favorite anime/manga since I was a high schooler.
I'm really happy to be apart of the coloring book!

One Piece was one of my earliest fandoms and I have been a fan of it ever since it came out in the first American Shounen Jump issue. It holds a special place in my heart as being one of the most quirky, heart-rending, morally complex, yet humorous pieces of work that I have ever seen.

I love everyone in the crew and I strive to have as much fun and freedom in life as they do some day and I cannot wait to see what adventures Luffy and the Strawhats have next!

Age: 31 (so old!)

One Piece is the only manga I follow since I first watched it in German TV, so many years ago. Since then I tried to stay up to date with the anime and later the manga and slowly participated more and more within the fandom.

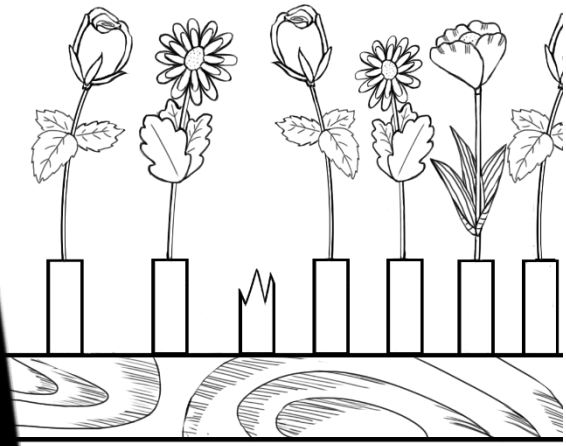

The picture: Booths where a photo is shot while you hit the target are a well liked game at carnivals. The drawings are inspired by those carnivals, the most famous being the Oktoberfest. I hope you have fun to colour them!

With best regards! :D

Hi! I'm Julia, a wannabe artist from Finland!

I've been into One Piece for a couple of years now, and it's given a lot of good things in my life — I've met friends, learned digital art and found something to make dark days a bit brighter. I love the Straw Hats' dynamic and their fun shenanigans, so I thought I'd draw them having a day off on a summer island.

I hope you enjoy colouring the works in this book as much as we enjoyed creating them!

Hello! I'm TaySamey (Twitter), or TaySameyArtwork (Instagram). You can call me Tay or Taylor, but just to clear the air, my penname rhymes! (Tay-Summay, not Tay-Say-mee!) I'm 22 years old and a MAJOR One Piece fan.

I stumbled upon it when I was about seven years old and managed to fall in love, despite it being the 4Kids dub, but who can tell the difference at that age? I grew up with this series, and grew up with a love of drawing comics and fan art. Despite the fact that the last seven to eight years have been heavily focused on the timeskip and newer characters, every old clip ranging from the first to early episodes and about Skypiea or CP9 is a big fat wave of nostalgia to me. The classic pre-timeskip designs and old animation art are very near and dear to my heart, so I decided, why not break the mold and go back to the short haired Nami, two-eyed Zoro, and right-eyed Sanji designs with simple body proportions and the good old Going Merry. I love the classic gags to this day: Luffy eating EVERYTHING, Sanji/Nami/Zoro getting pissed off at pretty much everything, Usopp shaking at the slightest hint of trouble but still usually part of the reason for it, the little things we all loved about One Piece since day one!

So enjoy this moment with me, and if you decide to post your color-in online, feel free to tag me in it! I'd love to see what everyone comes up with! <3

This project was a lot of fun for me, and I hope it is for you too!

I'm ugly lolita i just draw stuff because i like to. I mostly draw smut or the like, you can never have too much right? As for One piece, i Love it! The story has the simplest premise but is told in a unique way, from the characters to the world they adventure in, its all so different and fun! I love it so much!

I decided to draw Doffy more scary then hot to show that he pulls all the strings~~ I'm not funny but I'n all seriousness, he is a really cool character and i love his demeanor, he's huge flamboyant and evil man, whats not to love?
